Facts on County Flood Control Project Demanded

RAP'S WPA RULING
Says Collins' Duty Is To

On Program

The announcement by Congressman Sam L. Collins that Orange county's flood control project will have a cost too high to qualify it for federal aid through the Works Progress administration is too serious to pass by unnoticed, and the public should have all the facts about the situation, Edward Hall, well known Santa Ana citrus grower, said today.

Congressman Collins, in an interview this week, said that WPA projects could not qualify if their man-year cost was more than $1,140, and that so far as he knows, no California project yet submitted can qualify. This, he said, would include the Central Valley water project and the Orange county flood control program.

"This is a really serious matter," said Mr. Hall. "We have been pinning our hopes on federal aid for Orange county's water program, and if it is not to be forthcoming, we certainly should turn our attention to some other method of financing the project.

"I certainly feel that we should be positive that the cost is too high per man-year before we give up our attempts to secure federal assistance. On such an important matter, I feel that Mr. Collins has a public duty to give us the facts about the man-year cost of our program.

Law Immobile; John Paul Revere Hoover Arrested

The law apparently has no respect for names.

Take this one for instance: John Paul Revere Hoover.

Mr. Hoover, 29, of Costa Mesa, who gave his occupation as a structural engineer, was arrested late yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs G. F. McKey and James Workman on a warrant from Glendale, where he is wanted on a charge of violation of probation.

One deputy commented that he knows of another Hoover who gave his occupation as an engineer. That Hoover, however, became president of the United States.

$35,000 LAND DEAL MADE

107 1/2 Acres of Property Sold to V. A. Phillips By Harris Estate

One of the largest land sales in many months was reported here today with the transfer of 107 1/2 acres of property, located three-quarters of a mile south of Bonsai to V. A. Phillips, Inc., of Los Angeles. The land was sold by the estate of the late Mrs. Maria Harris, through F. E. Farnsworth, local real estate dealer.

Not only did the transaction represent the largest acreage involved in a deal for some time, but it also was outstanding by reason of the fact that it was strictly a cash deal. The price paid for the property was $35,000.

Three Heirs

Heirs to the estate of Mrs. Harris are Ed Larter, Westminster, Hanson Larter, Huntington Beach, and Mrs. Mary E. Griffith, their sister, of Los Angeles.

The 107 1/2-acre ranch has been devoted chiefly to raising beans. Mr. Farnsworth will manage the property for the buyer, who owns other ranch land in the north. Mr. Phillips' confidence in local real estate also was evidenced about four months ago when he purchased 36 acres of vegetable and bean land southwest of Santa Ana from H. J. Forgy and son.

State Worth $75,000

The Harris estate was appraised in its entirety at $75,000.

IS WEALTH LEAVING STATE?
So Say Tax Bill Opponents

SACRAMENTO, Saturday, July 13. (P)—An assertion that some wealthy persons already have taken steps to establish residences outside of California because of the income tax law passed by the fifty-first legislature lay before Gov. Merriam today.

Pleading for signing of a bill to repeal the county tax on intangibles, Assemblyman Robert Hall, Santa Barbara, told the governor that, as a group in the legislature had predicted, the income tax, "highest of any state in the Union," has caused "some persons in my district to make plans to live elsewhere."

MUSEUM TO OPEN SOON

September 15 Set As Tentative Date By Board Today

Setting September 15 tentative as the date for the opening of the Charles W. Bowers Memorial Museum, the museum board at a meeting this morning outlined plans for installation of exhibits, named committees and discussed policies having to do with operating the institution.

The board decided that so nearly as possible, the museum shall be made a local museum.

That is, its activities and efforts are to give emphasis, first, to Orange county's history; second, to California's. Special exhibitions are to be planned as time goes on. Among special exhibitions suggested by the curator, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, are those having to do with old silverware, old quilts, Civil war and Revolutionary war relics.

"By arranging these special affairs," said Mrs. Coulter, "in the course of a year or so the museum can become vitally interesting and useful to a large number of groups of the city."

Decide on Placements

In planning for opening the museum, the board directed the curator to gather into the north room of the museum the articles that might best be fitted to a library, such as old records, books, maps, pictures and documents. The center room will be devoted to an Orange county Indian exhibit, and the south room and halls and other exhibit space to be used for general exhibits, especially those having to do with local interests.

The work of equipping the museum with furniture and exhibit cases will be started Monday morning when a number of SERA workers will be available.

Two committees of the board to work with the curator were appointed this morning by Terry E. Stephenson, chairman of the board. These committees are:

ONE WEEK LEFT FOR OIL BILL

YOUNG DOLLAR IN ACCIDENT

SACRAMENTO, Saturday, July 13. (P)—The question of whether California will put the stamp of legal approval upon the once furtive activities of some oil companies in tapping the state's rich, protected ocean oil reservoir at Huntington Beach will be answered next week by Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

His decision will be rendered in signing or vetoing the Burns bill, which would permit the surveyor-general to lease out tideland oil pools of the state on a royalty basis for development by whistock or slantwise drilling. The deadline for gubernatorial action ends a week from today.

Woman, 98, Takes Fist Lesson In Swimming

SAN FRANCISCO, Saturday, July 13. (P)—Mrs. Jean Hodgson, 98, strolled into a women's athletic club and announced she had decided to learn to swim. She practiced a few strokes in the club tank and walked out, announcing she would return.

A professional instructor gave her the idea, she said.

ELEMENTS CEASE RAMPAGE IN U.S., LEAVING FOUR SCORE DEAD

20 DROWNED AS COOLER DAYS DUE

Temperature Jumps to 114 at Needles; New York Sees Peak

CHICAGO, Saturday, July 13. (P)—Nature's latest rampages of scorching heat, floods, rain and lightning appeared to be subsiding today, but in their wake was an unofficial toll of four score dead, including at least 20 drowned.

Promises for cooler weather were held out to the east after two days of searing heat. Moving eastward after a swing through the midwest, a heat wave in the Atlantic seaboard states sent temperatures soaring yesterday, with New York reporting its highest mark this year. A dozen died from the hot weather and in drownings.

Showers brought relief to the midwest, but the rain was not general. At St. Paul where the temperature dropped into the eighties, four were drowned. At Mascoutah, Ill., a farmer was killed by lightning.

The weather bureau here reported the heat wave was broken southward over Oklahoma and into Arkansas, also, but said the Pacific slope would get more hot weather today. One heat death was reported yesterday at Laredo, Tex., and in Needles, Calif., the mercury climbed to an official reading of 114 degrees.

At Granada, Colo., where nine drowned yesterday when streams suddenly left their banks following cloudbursts, the waters were reported going down.

MORE ABOUT WATER

(Continued from Page 1.) Hearing are true, it looks very much like we are going back to the old "leaf-raking" program we had under the CWA. Instead of considering the relative importance of our water problems, to such other projects as the Tennessee Valley project, it seems that Orange county is being regimented into line with other localities having so such water needs.

"If we are out in the cold as far as WPA is concerned, then there should be some way whereby we can proceed through some other agency to get the relief we need."

Intends to Find Out

"I am aware that such projects, because of the high cost of material in proportion to labor, very easily might come above the $1,140 qualification, but whether this is true of Orange county's project I do not know of my own knowledge. I intend to investigate and find out."

"It seems possible to me that a number of financing plans might be worked out, and that some program could be developed which would bring the Orange county project within the proper limits. If Mr. Collins is correct in his statement, we have a big problem on our hands, but before we seek some other financing plan, I hope that he will tell us all the facts. On a question of this sort there should be no room left for doubt."

Outlines Policies

Mrs. Coulter outlined to the board some of the policies advocated by her as the result of extensive consultation with other members. First of all, she said she hopes to make the museum useful to the schools, to keep it active and interesting so that visitors will find the place not only interesting but educational.

The board had before it a request from the Santa Ana Municipal band seeking permission to use the museum for weekly band practices. This request, made to the city council, had been referred to the museum board. It was the decision of the board that a letter should be written to the council asking that the policy of the city be adopted confining the museum as closely as possible to the purposes outlined in the will of the founder, Mr. Bowers.

The will designates the institution as being one for museum purposes, but provides that it shall provide a place for meetings of the Orange County Historical society. The recommendation of the museum board, therefore, was that the petition of the band be denied.

SPANISH-AMERICAN GROUP ELECTS

Marcus Forster of San Juan Capistrano was elected president of the Spanish-American club of Orange county at the annual membership meeting of that organization held last night. It also was decided to change the club's name to Spanish Pioneers society.

Other officers elected at the meeting were: J. G. Cantu, vice-president; J. V. Vorona of Fullerton, F. Mendoza of Olive, Tony

Mrs. Beisel, state vice president in charge of health and welfare, was selected to serve on the budget, magazine business and student loans committees. Mrs. Kirven, president of district No. 4, was named on the policy committee.

WIFE OF SANTA ANA MAN DIES AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT

Word was received here today that Mrs. Anna Frank, 50, wife of George Frank of route 5, box 587, Santa Ana, passed away last night in the Long Beach community hospital as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident in Seal Beach June 8.

A report filed with Seal Beach officers said Mrs. Frank was a passenger in a car driven by her husband when it collided with another machine at Bay boulevard and Bolsa road. The other car was driven by Albert Pahlahn of Whittier. The Frank machine turned over and burst into flames. Mrs. Frank was thrown from the car and sustained head and internal injuries. Mr. Frank also was injured.

Mr. Frank's body was removed last night to the Mottell Mortuary in Long Beach where a coroner's inquest is scheduled for 1:30 p. m. Monday. Tentative arrangements for funeral services have been made, with services scheduled for 3 p. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank's death is the thirtieth fatality from automobile accidents on Orange county highways since the first of the year. There were 28 deaths from accidents in Orange county at the end of June last year.

VENUE CHANGE IN $50,000 DAMAGE SUIT IS DENIED

Judge J. O. Moncur of Plumas county, sitting yesterday in department 1, superior court, denied the petition of attorneys for the Wilshire Oil company for a change of venue in the $50,000 damage suit of George Graupensperger, former deputy sheriff here, in which the oil company is defendant. The case is scheduled for trial Monday.

Judge Moncur held that the oil company's charge that a fair and impartial trial could not be secured in this county, due to Mr. Graupensperger's former connection with the court as bailiff, was insufficient.

Mr. Graupensperger is suing the oil company for the loss of his eyesight in a traffic accident more than a year ago when an oil truck collided with an automobile in which he was a passenger.

Lopez of Anaheim, and Charles C. Carrillo and Rufus Nieblas of Santa Ana to the board of directors.

Plans for the annual picnic were discussed and it was decided to hold the event August 4.

BLAME IT ON THE ROPE

Deputy Sheriffs G. F. McKelvey and James Workman announced today they placed one more burglary in the already long list of crimes charged against John Yeargan, 32, former Costa Mesa resident, arrested in Long Beach last Monday. The latest charge of burglary was assertedly established yesterday after the two officers found the owner of 67 pieces of silverware recovered from the home of Yeargan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Yeargan of Costa Mesa. The owner is Mrs. Ella Frye of Hollywood.

The burglary occurred May 23, 1934, when Mrs. Frye was a guest at the home of Mrs. Cordelia Cogswell on Whittier boulevard at the Orange county line. Mrs. Frye had packed her silver in a trunk, storing it in the garage at the Cogswell home.

After the silver had been recovered from the Yeargan home July 9, a teletype message carrying a description of the property was sent out. Los Angeles officers in going through their records found the report of the theft, and notified Mrs. Frye, who came to Santa Ana yesterday and identified 67 of the 91 pieces of silver found in the Yeargan home as being hers. Late yesterday, Deputies McKelvey and Workman again visited the Yeargan home and recovered two more spoons to match the set stolen from Mrs. Frye and an electric toaster taken in the same robbery. Mrs. Yeargan told officers her son had given them to her as a gift.

CONVICTED ROBBER GRANTED NEW TRIAL BY VISITING JUDGE

Didrik Mustad, convicted by a jury more than a week ago on two counts of first degree robbery, was granted a new trial late yesterday by Judge J. O. Moncur of Plumas county, sitting in department 1, superior court. Mustad had been found guilty of holding up and robbing W. G. Page of Orange, his brother O. F. D. Page, and their wives in their home in Orange several months ago.

When he appeared for sentence last Monday, Mustad filed notice of a motion for a new trial on statutory grounds, and indicated that the defense's greatest reliance would be placed on the fact that the conviction was obtained, principally, on circumstantial evidence.

He mentioned neither Italy nor Ethiopia by name, but said Washington expected nations to live up to the treaty.

Rome quarters hastened unofficially to assert Italy had not violated the treaty, but was the victim of hostile Ethiopian acts. Military preparations went forward at a rapid pace.

London speculated as to whether Hull hinted at the possibility the United States might join England in a determined effort to avert the threatened war.

Reports in Istanbul said Emperor Haile Selassie had ordered crown jewels and precious religious relics, reputedly including the tablet of the 10 commandments and ark of the covenant, from Ethiopia's holy city of Axum, to a safer interior point. Axum is near the Italian colony of Eritrea.

ITALY PLANS TO ATTEND SESSION

ROME, Saturday, July 13. (P)—Italy will attend a meeting of the council of the League of Nations if one is called shortly on her dispute with Ethiopia, it was said today in authoritative circles.

At the same time authorities, commenting unofficially on Secretary Hull's declaration in support of the Briand-Kellogg pact, asserted Italy in "no way" has violated that treaty.

ENGLISH LEADER WARNS ITALY

PENICHEBAR, Cornwall, England, Saturday, July 13. (P)—Sir Herbert Samuel, liberal opposition leader in the House of Commons, warned Italy in a speech today that "if the primitive troops of Ethiopia are mown down by Italian machine guns, there will be a spontaneous outburst of indignation and resentment among the British people."

CLUBWOMEN OF COUNTY HEAR NEWS FROM DELEGATES

Orange county clubwomen today were abuzz with reports brought home Thursday night by their delegates to the southern district California Federation of Women's clubs, two-day summer conference at Del Mar.

That the district president, Mrs. John Stewart of Homel, will leave tomorrow for Edinburgh, Scotland, to spend two months with her sister, who is seriously ill, was among the bits of news brought home. Another was that Miss Josephine G. Seaman of La Jolla, junior past state federation president, now visiting her sister in England, has been chosen first vice president, and Mrs. Frank Rospaw of Placentia is new press chairman for the Western Federation of Women's clubs.

Among conference-goers were Mrs. W. G. ACTION STARTED ON RECONSTRUCTION OF PLACENTIA SCHOOLS

ARCHITECT'S PLAN NOT TAKEN

May Ask Bond Vote for $150,000 to Finish School Projects

PLACENTIA.—Definite action toward reconstruction of Placentia district schools was taken by the board of education at a meeting here yesterday when it adopted resolutions authorizing requests for WPA aid in financing the project.

T. C. Kistner, architect for the school district, presented a plan for reconstruction of schools and building of several new units which board members said was too costly. They authorized the resolutions with the provision that amounts of bond issues will be determined within a short time as a full board was not present yesterday.

Mr. Kistner's plan called for expenditure of about $590,000, he told board members. Of this amount $270,000 would be raised by a bond issue, $65,000 now held by the school for construction work would be added and the remainder would be government grants.

Explains Plan

Included in the plan was completion of buildings of Valencia high school, which would call for a bond issue of about $91,000. Mr. Kistner said. In his elementary plan he recommended expenditure of $33,000 on new buildings and $5,000 for new land for Baker street school; $2,500 for land and $33,000 for new buildings at La Jolla school; and at Bradford school he recommended a new manual arts building to cost $19,000, a home economics addition to cost $51,000 and an auditorium and classroom unit to cost $23,000.

Mr. Kistner also included in his plan reconstruction work on Richfield school totaling $26,500, La Jolla school $7,900, and Yorba school $8,000.

Of the proposed high school bond issue, $12,000 would be spent for land, the architect said.

Cost Said Too High

All members of the board agreed that the amounts set by Mr. Kistner were too high. In an informal discussion, members indicated that a bond issue of about $150,000, which would include work on both high and elementary schools, would be sufficient at this time.

The school district has a fund of about $65,000 on hand from insurance on the Bradford school, which was destroyed by fire last October. This, with a $150,000 bond issue and about $190,000 in government grants, would give the district a total of $380,000 for readjusting of the schools and for some new building, it was pointed out.

Members of the board present yesterday were Mrs. Hermine B. Lowe, Earl Mathis and Lawrence Lemke.

INSTALLATION CEREMONIES HELD AT WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER.—Installation of officers of the Aloha Rebekah Lodge took place in the lodge rooms recently. Mrs. Blanche Chandler, district deputy president, from the Torosan Lodge of Santa Ana and her staff conducted the ceremony. Mrs. Frankie Van Uden, outgoing Noble Grand received her Past Noble Grand pin, presented by Mrs. May Mansperger.

Mrs. Cordelia Slatte was the incoming noble grand. Other officers are: Hattie Murdy, vice grand; Nellie Parr, secretary; Bertha Schmidt, financial secretary and India McDaniel treasurer.

Appointive officers are: warden, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall; conductor, Mrs. Evelyn Wardlow; chaplain, Mrs. Maude Michl; R. S. N. G.; Mrs. Nellie Morgan; L. S. N. G.; Mrs. Ruth Seneca; R. S. V. G.; Mrs. Nellie Murdy; L. S. V. G.; Mrs. Alice Hare; inside guardian, Mrs. Lula Nankervis; outside guardian, Mrs. Linda McDaniel; right altar supporter, Mrs. Ella Murdy and left altar supporter, Mrs. Ruth Goble.

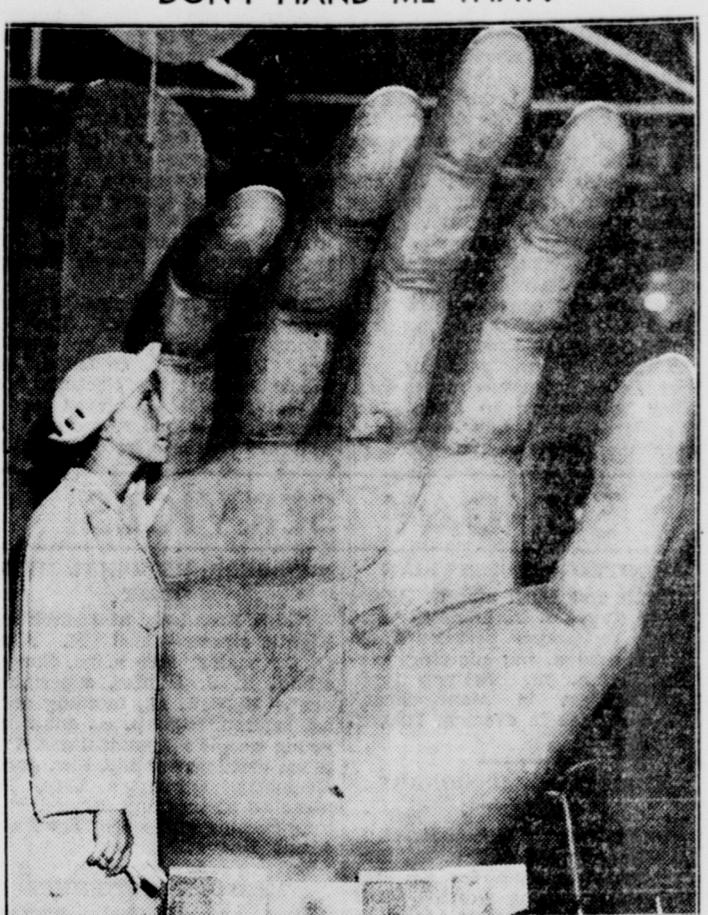

The newly installed noble grand was presented with a gift of silver by her officers. After the installation ceremony refreshments were served in the banquet hall. Mrs. Linda McDaniel acting as hostess.

VOTE ON BONDS SET AT BREA

BREA.—A bond election for $15,000 on August 8, has been announced by school boards here as part of a $300,000 program to rebuild three school buildings in Brea, as recommended by state inspectors.

A government grant of 45 percent of the total amount will be asked by the district, it was announced, with $50,000 in school building funds to be used in the rebuilding program.

District residents will be asked to pass on bonds totalling $85,000 for reconstruction of walls, roof and floors of Brea-Olinda high school. Brea grammar school and the Laurel school will be remodeled if an issue of $30,000 is passed by elementary district voters.

BAPTIST SOCIETY HAS MEETING AT GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE.—"Around the World Topics" were presented with posters when 35 members of the Missionary society of the Baptist church met for an all-day meeting recently at the home of Mrs. J. G. Allen on North Euclid avenue. A covered dish luncheon at noon was in charge of Mrs. Allen, Miss Grace Hedstrom and Mrs. Harriett Wright.

Mrs. George Schumacher and Miss Grace Hedstrom were awarded prizes for the best posters. Mrs. Elmer Lyon was in charge of the program presenting the World Wide Guild of the church in a short play directed by Miss Elizabeth Lehnhart, who also played a piano solo. Part in the play were taken by Misses Ruth Lehnhart, Helen Brinckall and Marie Payne.

State officials have indicated that they will act favorably on the request to have the land designated as a refuge, John C. Gregory, local Walton official said today. If favorable action is taken July 29 for the annual picnic at Anaheim park. Arrangements are in charge of Medesma Pauline Merchant, Mignon Waters and Glee Newsom.

TWO BIRTHDAY PARTIES GIVEN BY MRS. EARL ELSON

ORANGE.—Mrs. Earl M. Elson of East Chapman avenue entertained this week with two parties, both honoring the first birthday of her son, Earl Owen Elson.

DANGEROUS LOU

LOU GEHRIG, the durable Dutchman with nearly 1600 consecutive games to his credit, also has the habit of being most dangerous when hurt. Last season, the day after being seriously beamed, he hit three successive triples. This season, after being hurt in a collision, he played through a double-header, made four hits, batted in six runs, stole a base!

ARKY VAUGHAN PACING MAJOR SWATTERS

Column Left!

By FRANK ROGERS

WRESTLER TO BOXER AND BACK IN ONE 'ACT'

Six months ago we sat around a heavily loaded dinner table with half a dozen other scribes, a prizefighter and a little shrimp who looked like a cross between a pacrat and a gopher.

We had just passed that first pleasant step that all sport writers take when some one else is buying dinner when the little guy made a remark.

"The guy's got a punch. Dempsey sent him out here for me to train—stole him from Madison Square Garden. He's gonna be the next champion."

Two or three of the boys went so far as to take a drink of water after that, while the more naive of our group let their eyeballs run wild.

The optimistic gentlemen who had just made what he expected us to believe was an honest statement was Jerry the Greek, sometimes known as Jerry Luvadas but more famous as the trainer of Dempsey when the Manassa Mauler was at his peak.

The fighter—although he was somewhat flattered by the title—was one "Wild Bill" Hoolihan.

The dinner was Jerry's way of telling us that he expected a lot of journalistic raving over his prodigy who late that night was to meet another heavyweight as the main attraction in the town's weekly prizefight show.

What actually happened is a story by itself, and because you may happen to know Mr. Hoolihan before long it bears telling here.

Scene: The ringside. Sport-scribes, comfortably stocked with smokes, an stuffed in the middle by Jerry, are at ease.

Act 1: Wild Bill Hoolihan enters ring. Paul Matan, a fighter of sorts, follows him.

Act 2: The bell. Hoolihan hits Matan. Matan goes down. Referee counts ten. The bell.

Act 3: Loud boos from fans. Mr. Hoolihan and Mr. Luvadas duck.

Act 4: Scribes go home, tongues in check knowing that it is all Jerry's way of launching what he expects them to believe is fighter. The story, if anybody will write one, will look impressive enough in New York papers.

HOOLIHAN ONE-TIME STRUGGLING WRESTLER

Now before Mr. Hoolihan hooked up with Jerry he was a struggling wrestler. Today he is again back on the mat and we see by Sam Sampson's card that he is billed here for Monday night.

Putting Mr. Hoolihan's unfortunate start as a fighter into the background—he has scarcely fought since—he will be something to see whether he can wrestle no better than Man Mountain Dean.

Bill Hoolihan is the best looking specimen in the squared circle today, bar none. He is distinctly a movie type and why he chooses so battering a job as boxing or wrestling mystifies those who take one look at his face. Black Gable hair, March smile and all the Aviators.

Santa Ana opened its eighth-inning spree on Conrad's infield bouncer. He took second on a wild pitch, and Denney singled. "Fuzzy" Errington purposely walked Pitcher Jim Coates to fill the bags. George grounded to Leonard, who threw to Catcher Ed Daley to force Conrad just before his painful slide into the plate. Smith then rapped the Homer that shattered Westminster's hopes.

Coates struck out nine for Santa Ana. Errington six for George Lackey's Aviators.

The box score:

Stars Lick Flyers 5-2, But Lose Star Shortstop

CONRAD HURT ON PLAY AT HOME BASE

Doc Smith's Homer With Bags Full Turns Tide in Favor of Locals

Severely injuring his left shoulder when he slid into home plate on a forced play in the eighth. Shortstop Francis Conrad was lost to the Santa Ana Stars for an indefinite period today as the result of a National Night Ball game which Tom Denney's champions won from Westminster, 5-2, here last night.

Conrad, stunned by the play in which he hit a corner of the plate, was helped from the field, and rushed to the offices of Dr. James Farrage, who treated the dislocation and relieved most of the pain. The physician said today that the star infielder probably will be lost to the team for three weeks or perhaps a month.

Raymond "Doc" Smith's home run, drive that salled over the head of Ray Hapes, who was not playing deep enough in left field, came with the bases loaded on the play following Conrad's injury, and proved to be the deciding factor in Santa Ana's victory.

For seven innings the Stars had to content with a 1-0 lead, garnered in the first when Pitcher Jim Coates slammed a two-bagger to centerfield to score Manager Denney, who had reached first on a fielder's choice that forced Conrad at second.

Smith's timely swat, coming with two away in the eighth, saved Santa Ana from a defeat which Westminster probably would have registered in the ninth.

Act 2: The bell. Hoolihan hits Matan. Matan goes down. Referee counts ten. The bell.

Act 3: Loud boos from fans. Mr. Hoolihan and Mr. Luvadas duck.

Act 4: Scribes go home, tongues in check knowing that it is all Jerry's way of launching what he expects them to believe is fighter. The story, if anybody will write one, will look impressive enough in New York papers.

HOOLIHAN ONE-TIME STRUGGLING WRESTLER

Now before Mr. Hoolihan hooked up with Jerry he was a struggling wrestler. Today he is again back on the mat and we see by Sam Sampson's card that he is billed here for Monday night.

Putting Mr. Hoolihan's unfortunate start as a fighter into the background—he has scarcely fought since—he will be something to see whether he can wrestle no better than Man Mountain Dean.

Bill Hoolihan is the best looking specimen in the squared circle today, bar none. He is distinctly a movie type and why he chooses so battering a job as boxing or wrestling mystifies those who take one look at his face. Black Gable hair, March smile and all the Aviators.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS SENATORS WIN MEDICA LEADER FROM DUCKS OF INVADERS

By the Associated Press

Hitting practically everything four Portland pitchers had to offer, the lowly Sacramento Senators won their first game in four starts yesterday when they beat the Ducks 10 to 1.

Tom Flynn, chucking for the Sacs, let the Beavers down with but three hits, one a hefty double by Gil English to score a run and deprive the lanky southpaw of a shutout.

Roy Mort, who helps Hollis Thurston play first base for the Missions, leaned on one of Mike Meola's fast ones for a four-bagger with two on bases to drive the Reds to a 4 to 3 win over Los Angeles. The Missions have taken three out of four games in the series.

Ken Douglas, who ordinarily pitches for Oakland, stepped into the role of pinch hitter in the last of the ninth and delivered a single scoring Frenchy Uhalt as the Oaks won from Seattle, 3 to 2.

"Dead Pan" Joe DiMaggio put on a regular Horatio Alger act as he batted his club to a 5 to 4 victory over Hollywood. With two out in the ninth and the bags full of Seals, and with the home team trailing by one run, Joe got the hit and run signal. The base runners started traveling with the pitch and DiMaggio drove a hot one past the pitcher to bring in two runs and the ball game.

LONG BEACH TO HAVE RODEO

An entertaining program for the third annual American Legion rodeo and horse show at the Lomita riding club in Long Beach August 3 and 4 has been completed, and entries are now being received by the sponsor—Arthur Peterson post No. 27 of the beach city.

Ropers and other performers from Santa Ana are expected to compete in the event, which will include silver mounted plain western and bronco riding, steer roping, relay races, stake races and specialty acts. Entries should be made with the Lomita club, East Anaheim and Hathaway drive, Long Beach.

Featuring the Sunday afternoon program will be a drum and bugle contest among Southern California legion posts. This event has created much interest, since it comes a few days before the state competition at Fresno. Other highlights, in addition to the horsemanship show, will be an open-air dance, barbecue and carnival.

CLASS IN LIFE FAIR SCHEDULES SAVING OPENS POLO MATCHES

As an entirely new departure in Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. athletic work, a special course in life-saving instruction for women will be offered beginning Monday, according to Secretary Ralph Smedley.

The class will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at 11 o'clock. Pupils will be taught how to handle cases of drowning and other emergencies that arise in the water. The instructor will be Harris Warren, Santa Ana Junior college athlete.

Girls must be able to swim the length of the "Y" pool with a good stroke, to dive with reasonable skill, and to swim under water, in order to qualify for the course.

The following young women already have enrolled: Gay Thwaites, Virginia Wilson, Gladys Corby, Anna Margaret Ball, Helen Stucke, Barbara Rowell, Phyllis Payne, Helen Tibbals, Hollis Tibbals and Beatrice Hewitt.

ENTRANCING IN 'LOVE ME FOREVER'

Grace Moore, great singing star, is shown above in a scene from her new great film, "Love Me Forever," the current attraction at the West Coast theater. Because of the unusual interest in the new Grace Moore musical film, arrangements have been made for daily matinees during the showing of the picture in Santa Ana.

Bites 'N' Bait

OCEAN FISHING IS NOW EXCELLENT

Ocean fishing at Southern California's many beaches has been excellent the past few days, according to a report by the outing bureau of the automobile club.

General fishing conditions at the beaches follow:

NEWPORT-BALBOA—A number of albacore caught last week when they were in schools. Boats are bringing in a few at a time but large catches will not be the rule unless the fish again school up. Anglers have been finding albacore about eight miles southwest of the jetty near the steamer lane.

Surf fishing has been fair. Halibut, barracuda, bonita, bass and yellowtail are keeping fishermen busy from live-bait boats. Live bait is plentiful. Halibut, spot and corbina are being landed from the pier. Barge fishing has been good, barracuda, halibut and sea bass making up the catches.

SAN DIEGO: Yellowtail are still hitting hard in the waters off Coronado Islands. A 45-pound tuna was landed last week and many live-bait boats are bringing in a few of these fighters daily. The water is alive with tuna around the islands. The moon is right and all indications for good fishing are now apparent.

SANTA MONICA: Good catches of barracuda, halibut and bass from live-bait boats. Large halibut being caught from barge.

HERMOSA BEACH TO LONG BEACH: Fishing from various piers has been excellent, anglers taking lots of halibut, many weighing more than 20 pounds. Live-bait boats are returning with plenty of barracuda, bass and yellowtail and white sea bass. Anglers are catching lots of mackerel, sculpin, barracuda and halibut.

A Mrs. Helen Hicks of Fort Wayne, Ind., is one of Indiana's best women golfers. She's no relation to Miss Helen Hicks of Hewlett, L. I., the business-woman golfer.

The first concert was given last Wednesday night, when pledge cards were distributed.

Feeling Well Today?

By DR. IAGO GALDSTON

Treatment by Fever

Among the aphorisms credited to the great Greek physician, Hippocrates, there is one which reads: "Those diseases which medicines do not cure the knife cures; those which the knife cannot cure fire (fever) cures; those which fire cannot cure are to be reckoned wholly incurable."

Many consider this an indication of Hippocrates' appreciation of the curative powers of fever.

For a long time Hippocrates' views on the control of fever were rejected.

Opinions Change

Some 40 years ago, however, the tide of opinion began to change. In 1888, Dr. William H. Welch argued that fever must serve some useful purpose, or else nature would not have retained it so tenaciously as a reaction process to the invasion of harmful substances.

Others came to the conviction that under certain conditions and within certain limits fever is a state not to be prevented, but rather to be fostered.

The therapeutic, or curative,

STATE TAXING
PROBLEM TOLD

The problem of taxation is developing into an acute one which deserves the attention of every thinking citizen, states a news bulletin from the California Building-Loan league. It was released here by Ellis Diehl, manager of the Santa Ana Building and Loan association.

Although the state legislature presumably had balanced the budget when it adjourned June 16, it had failed to provide funds to meet the $25,000,000 carry-over deficit and had not provided money for unemployment relief in the second year of the biennium, which will require an estimated $24,000,000, the bulletin said. It pointed out that according to the department of finance, the revenue estimates of the joint legislative tax committee are $20,000,000 too high.

The old-age pension and special appropriations will require about $4,000,000 more, as a result, the legislature will find it necessary to raise between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000 before the biennium ends, the bulletin said.

The California Building and Loan league at its recent convention adopted a resolution opposing further increases in government costs. It urged elimination of overlapping government functions that the number of tax units be reduced and that uniform accounting and budgeting systems be adopted.

BAND SEEKS $2000
TO BACK PROGRAM

The Santa Ana Municipal band has launched a drive for $2000 to finance its summer concert season, it was announced today by Leland Auer, director. Pledges or contributions may be sent to Mr. Auer at room 400, First National bank building.

The first concert was given last Wednesday night, when pledge cards were distributed.

'ESCAPE' TO START SUNDAY

NEW TWIN BILL
DUE THURSDAY

Starting next Thursday, the Broadway theater will screen two new first-run feature films, "Hard Rock Harrigan," with George O'Brien in the starring role, and "Murder in the Fleet," a detective mystery, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

"Hard Rock Harrigan" is the story of a feud between a husky "hard-rock" driller, played by O'Brien, and his tunnel boss, who are engaged in drilling a tunnel through a mountainside to complete a gigantic aqueduct project. Irene Hervey appears as O'Brien's leading lady.

In "Murder in the Fleet," Robert Taylor plays the part of a young lieutenant who pursues a criminal, corners him in a ship's powder magazine, and as they fight the magazine is ordered flooded, and they battle as water slowly rises to their necks before the doors are forced open. Jean Parker has the leading feminine role, while others in the cast include Una Merkel, Nat Pendleton, Ted Healy, Arthur Byron, Frank Shields and Donald Cook.

Selected short subjects will include a novelty, "Town Hall Follies," "Screen Snapshots," and "World News events."

GRACE MOORE IS TRIUMPH IN NEW
SINGING FILM AT WEST COAST

Playing to capacity houses Grace Moore's new starring vehicle, "Love Me Forever," opened yesterday at the West Coast theater for a full week's run.

Combining drama, music and romance, Grace Moore's new picture is a gift for the world. Not since "One Night of Love" has the screen been in better form.

Telling the story of Margaret Howard, a debutante who suddenly finds herself penniless, "Love Me Forever" takes her from the moment she meets Stephano Correlli until she sings her astoundingly beautiful debut at the Metropolitan in "La Boheme."

Correlli's big-time gambler, falls in love with Margaret when he hears her sing, and sponsors her career.

The advent of the girl into his life throws Correlli into confusion. He lives with but one thought—the ultimate operatic success of Margaret. To this end he sacrifices everything. But his martyrdom comes to naught for just before she signs the Metropolitan contract.

With Alice Brady, Douglas Montgomery, Anita Louise and Alan Mowbray heading the cast, "Love Tubs" is a comedy which tells of a railway camp geek who masquerades as an English noblewoman in fashionable circles in order to further the romance of her niece.

The cast in "Men Without Names" is headed by Fred MacMurray and Madge Evans. The picture shows how MacMurray's band of killers through "hot money" and how the gang is brought to time.

Opinions of Two
Experts on Farm
Progress Conflict

It all depends on which way you look at it.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, told a farm bureau convention at Fort Collins, Colo., that "agriculture has made more progress in the past three years than in the previous 100 years."

Mrs. Mabel Abart, chairman of the farm bureau home department, told the same group that 5,000,000 farms in the United States still use kerosene lamps, and that 80 per cent of the 59,000,000 people dependent upon agriculture still carry their own water for domestic use.

These sidelights were revealed in a letter from Roland D. Flaherty, local farm bureau secretary, who attended the convention.

K. C. BARBECUE
TO BE SUNDAY

Enough barbecued beef to feed 1,000 hungry picnickers has been ordered for tomorrow's Knights of Columbus barbecue in Sycamore picnic grounds, Santa Ana canyon, from 12 until 3.

Tony Barrios and W. K. Duffy, veteran chefs, will be at the spot, serving generous portions of the dinner. Babcock's orchestra will play during the dinner hours for dancing under trees of the park.

Starting at 2 p. m., a series of races will be sponsored for boys and girls, and men and women. Prizes will be presented winners of the contests.

On the afternoon's entertainment have been scheduled a skirt a barrel and Layton, numbers by the Orange county Hill Bill group, music by Babcock's orchestra, a talk by State Deputy Dr. John A. Schwamm, and an informal appearance of Andy Gumi, Hollywood comedy star, and other comic actors.

In the absence of Dr. V. A. Rossiter, who was to have been master of ceremonies, Henry Stanley will preside.

Specialty prizes will be available to those with tickets for the barbecue.

Placards, directing cars to the barbecue, will be posted in Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton tonight. The picnic grounds are located about eight miles northeast of Olive on the way to Corona through Santa Ana canyon.

CURATOR TO BE APPOINTED FOR JUNIOR EBELL

Authorization of the president, Miss Nan Mead, to appoint a curator for next year in Santa Ana Junior Ebell featured the meeting of the Junior's executive board yesterday afternoon in the F. F. Mead home on North Main street. The curator has not yet been selected.

Cards are to be sent to the membership to decide whether scheduled meetings will be held in the afternoon or evening.

Miss Mead served tea at the close of the afternoon.

Present were Mesdames W. C. Leichtfuss, Quincy Hardy (Frances Bowman), Louise Webber, Frank Mead Jr., Edmund West, and Misses Florence Brownridge and Elizabeth Smith.

YEAR IN JAIL AND
PROBATION GIVEN
CONVICTED DRIVER

Tony Feliz, recently convicted by a jury on a charge of manslaughter, was granted five years probation yesterday by Presiding Judge James L. Allen, who ordered him to serve one year in the county jail as a part of the probation requirement. J. Parley Smith, attorney for Feliz, filed oral notice of a motion for a new trial.

Feliz was found guilty of the death of George Flores who succumbed to injuries sustained when the car driven by Feliz, and in which Flores was riding, turned over several months ago.

When Feliz is released from jail he must not accept help from SERA nor can he own or operate an automobile for five years under the probation order. In granting probation Judge Allen said that at the time Flores was killed Feliz was working for the SERA.

"It is not fair," Judge Allen said, "for man to obtain SERA money, ostensibly for the support of his family and then spend it for liquor."

END HEARING
ON BETTING
AT RACES

SACRAMENTO, Saturday, July 13. (P)—Legalizing of greyhound racing in California depended today upon whether Gov. Merriam interpreted the Kallam bill as a measure to put a "wholesome sport" under regulation or a disguised attempt to legalize open gambling.

Proponents of the bill and an opponent fighting single handed drew these sharply contrasting pictures before the governor late yesterday.

While more than 500 spectators paraded before the governor with blasts of oratory, urging him to sign it as a means of regulating a "fine sport," improved dog breeding, aid agriculture and labor and finally pour about a million dollars annually into state coffers for the support of old age pensions.

Married in Canada

Mrs. Crotty, she who was Ellen Allen, buxom 17-year-old Irish colleen, when 60 years ago she married Mr. Crotty, a sturdy Canadian-born Irish farmer, in Kouchibouzaac, New Brunswick, Canada, has a sprightliness and cheerful outlook on life that is the envy of many women 20 years her junior. Used to a life of activity she helps her daughter with the household tasks while Mr. Crotty, 87 years old, tends the yard—and 'tis a fine looking yard, too.

When Mr. and Mrs. Crotty were married on July 13, 1875, he owned a farm in Canada, and the young couple went to work developing their property. It was hard work, they said, and it was this hard work, according to Mrs. Crotty, that accounts for their 60 years of happiness.

"If more young couples went to farming after they were married," she said, "there would be fewer divorces. There is something about the land and the hard work that draws folks together."

A young couple has plenty of work to do there will be no time for unhappiness," for

Mr. Crotty has a "no quarrels" policy.

In all the 60 years of married life Mr. and Mrs. Crotty have never had a quarrel.

"I don't mean we always thought the same way about things, because we didn't," Mrs. Crotty said, "but when we did hold different opinions we talked them over and reached a decision. That is the trouble with so many young people today—they don't stop to think. My advice to brides would be 'when your husband does something that does not please you, don't get mad the first thing. Stop and think it over—maybe you will find that the thing is not so serious after all."

Another important factor in a successful marriage, both Mr. and Mrs. Crotty declare, is mutual confidence. In all his years as a farmer in Canada, Mr. Crotty never bought a head of livestock or a piece of farm machinery without first talking it over with his wife.

Always Together

Neither Mr. Crotty nor Mrs. Crotty believe in the husband or wife having separate interests.

"We never went to social gatherings alone," they said, "and we don't believe that we would have enjoyed ourselves if we had."

Since Mr. Crotty retired from active farming in 1902 they have traveled extensively.

A husband should never interfere in management of the household, Mr. Crotty is emphatic on that point.

"A man don't know anything about running a house," he said, "so why should he try it? I turned over the checks and mother bought the food."

No 'Boss' Here

Another thing Mr. Crotty is emphatic about and that is the matter of who should be the head of the family.

"There shouldn't be any boss," he said, "that never works out. A husband and his wife should work together."

Cards are to be sent to the membership to decide whether scheduled meetings will be held in the afternoon or evening.

Miss Mead served tea at the close of the afternoon.

Present were Mesdames W. C. Leichtfuss, Quincy Hardy (Frances Bowman), Louise Webber, Frank Mead Jr., Edmund West, and Misses Florence Brownridge and Elizabeth Smith.

DEBATE ON CHARTER IS THURSDAY

Santa Ana is expected to manifest keen interest next Thursday when a debate will be launched by the Lions club on the question of a charter form of government for this city. In view of the unusual interest arrangements are being made to accommodate as many persons as possible at James' cafe where the debate will be held.

Rolla Hays, chairman of the club's civic affairs committee, said today that the public will be welcomed at the debate at 12:45 p. m. Plans are being made to arrange additional seating capacity, he said.

Members of the county council and City-Attorney L. W. Blodget have been invited to attend the affair.

Joel Ogle, local attorney, will open the debate, speaking for 25 minutes in favor of a charter for Santa Ana Attorney Horace Head, speaking on the other side, will have a five-minute rebuttal. On the following Thursday Mr. Head will present his arguments to convince the audience that a charter form of government would be a mistake. Mr. Ogle will have a five-minute rebuttal.

There has been sufficient interest in the debate so that the subject has been placed also in the hands of the civic affairs committee of the Lions club, Mr. Hays said.

YEAR FIRE LOSS
HERE $10,604

Fires in Santa Ana the past fiscal year resulted in damage to property totaling $20,604, states a report made today by Fire Marshal Elmer Gates. There were 157 calls answered, and out of that number there were 93 where only one piece of equipment was sent.

Out of a total of 10 calls for the rescue squad, there were six cases in which the efforts of the squad were successful.

The year previous the department answered 147 calls, and the damage caused by fire totaled $92,504.

95 ENROLL IN VACATION BIBLE
SCHOOL IN CITY

Ninety-five students, representing 16 denominations, enrolled at the Daily Vacation Bible school being conducted by the First Church of the Nazarene, Fifth and Parton streets, during the past week, the Rev. G. E. Waddle, pastor, announced today.

Mrs. Anna Baker, assisted by her daughter, Edna and Edith, are supervising the instruction. The faculty includes Misses Marie Kohlberger, Mrs. Sarah Shambough, Mrs. D. P. Bottrof, Mrs. L. S. Sharpe, Miss Clara Dunham and Miss Doris O'Brien.

Two weeks more of instruction have been planned, with the closing date of the school set for July 26 when a public program will be given. Sessions are from 9 to 12 a. m. The curriculum includes a wide variety of courses in Bible instruction, memory lessons, handcraft, and other phases of instruction. Capacity attendance of 150 students was expected to be reached this week, the Rev. Mr. Waddle said.

LAURA RESTS BEFORE
NEW HOP EASTWARD

BURBANK, Calif.—Laura Ingalls marked time today in plans for a projected return-trip non-stop flight to New York. Fully rested after her uninterrupted 18-hour journey from the East Thursday, the diminutive aviatrix indicated it would be several days before she went into the air in quest of Amelia Earhart's west-to-east flight record of 17 hours, 7 minutes, 30 seconds.

CONVICTED ROBBER OF WIDOW PLANS APPEAL

LOS ANGELES.—Facing a two to twenty-year prison term, Henry Gutman, young "rags to riches" promoter, today planned to appeal his conviction on charges of stealing $44,000 from Mrs. Blanche Sewell, his wealthy former benefactor. Gutman, who claimed the money was part of the affection bestowed upon him by the wealthy Beverly Hills widow, remained in jail today awaiting sentence.

3000 ACRES RUINED
BY SANTA BARBARA FIRE

SANTA BARBARA.—Three thousand acres of brush and oak land in Santa Barbara national forest lay devastated today in the wake of a raging fire. Scores of Civilian Conservation Corps workers remained on duty, guarding against an outbreak of flames, which were finally brought under control last night after more than 24 hours' battle.

Artistic Ability of Garden Club Members Seen in Arrangement of Bouquets

Anaheim Park Setting For Club Party

"I'd Have Done It So," Owners Discuss Way Others Use Vases

"What a lovely bouquet!" and "If I'd done it, I'd have done it this way"—were among the comments heard at yesterday afternoon's picnic meeting of the Santa Ana Garden club in Anaheim park, when the feature of the day was an interesting procedure in which each woman brought her favorite flower container, exchanged it with someone else in the club, and not knowing whose vase she received, "arranged a bouquet in it according to her very best taste."

After the bouquets were assembled and ranged along a table in the park, exciting considerable comment from other groups of picnickers and chance strollers by the German gardener who was working nearby was called into service as judge of the display.

Chooses Six Best

He chose as the six most attractive arrangements those prepared by Mesdames Charles W. Harrison, Lena McMillan, Rosalie C. Berger, T. J. Thebo, Ray B. Stedman and Ethel Durbin. He disappeared for a moment, then, and returned carrying three blossoms from the "justice of peace" plant, which he awarded as a first prize.

Mrs. Edward Walker conducted the business session, in which members responded to roll call by reading garden verses. Mrs. W. L. Grubb's poem, highly praised by her fellow clubwomen, was an original one which she was inspired to write because of the beauties of her home garden.

Word from Traveler

Mrs. Stedman, club secretary, read a card from a past president of the club, Miss Edith Stanley, who with her mother, Mrs. C. H. Stanley, is jaunting through Europe. They are now in London, having flown from Paris to London, according to the card.

Mrs. Mabel Lambert, Mrs. E. M. Redmond and Mrs. Harry McCormick shared hostess honors for the day.

At the next meeting, Friday, Aug. 9, in the Laguna Beach cottage of Mrs. F. H. Cloyes, the club will have a picnic luncheon and respond to roll call by describing new flowers. Mrs. McCormick will discuss "The Culture of Sweet Peas and Iceland Poppies" and Mrs. Redmond will relate the "History of Camellias." Mesdames Durbin, Jerry Walker and Taylor Hayden will be hostesses.

Take Home Bouquets

Each of the women present took home one of the bouquets arranged in the contest.

Mrs. M. J. Hulsey, Mrs. Virginia Fritcher and Miss Mary J. Haskell, grand-daughter of Mrs. Grubb, were present as guests.

Others present were Mesdames Guy Belcher, Taylor Hayden, Eugene Gruettner, M. E. Geeting, Ray W. Felton, E. C. Erwin, Gertrude Ellis, George Wells, Clyde Walker, Thomas Tournat, L. E. Tarbox, Alice Richards and Will Nelles.

PLUNGE PARTY SET FOR TUESDAY AT LEONARD HOME

Not the "old swimming hole," but a smart open-air plunge will be the rendezvous for friends and members of the Sarah A. Rounds Tent No. 10, Daughters of Union Veterans, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock when a public benefit plunge party is held at the D. P. Leonard home at 1103 Memory Lane.

Chairman of the aide, sponsoring the benefit, will be Olive Willard. Assisting her will be Edith Moore, Addie Gardner and Florence Perry.

An all-day meeting, with a covered-dish luncheon at noon, has been scheduled for July 19 at Laguna Beach at the home of Lydia Scammon instead of the customary monthly tea.

A membership application was received at last night's meeting held in the K. of P. hall from Katherine Crist. Clyde Dunn was obligated as a son of the order.

Visitors from Fullerton tent who attended the meeting were Sabina Beall, president, and Eva Gage, past department patriotic instructor.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Rowena Grout and Florence Price.

DORCAS SOCIETY TO HAVE KITCHEN AS PROJECT FOR YEAR

Furnishing of a kitchen in the new First Methodist church social hall will be the project of the Dorcas society of the church, the group decided at its picnic luncheon held yesterday in Anaheim park.

Plans for the kitchen were outlined by the Rev. Dr. George Warner in a brief talk to the group. Twenty-six members attended the meeting, along with 10 guests and 12 children.

Hostesses were Mesdames Fred Switzer, Tom Short, Roy Gowdy and G. H. Grigg.

Hard Drinking Habits of Husband Subject Wife to Life of Misery and Uncertainty

By MARY STODDARD

An otherwise well-meaning husband is unable to say "No" to his drinking companions.

His wife has left him numerous times because of his abusive attitude when he under the influence. But it's the same old story; he promises to reform if given another chance, only to fall off the wagon again in a few weeks.

Even tho this wife loves him enough to jeopardize her own life, she hasn't the right to subject innocent little children to this peril.

She must have an understanding once and for all. If her husband hasn't will power to stop drinking, she should have him go to a reputable physician and get some medical assistance. But even after that, his will power is the main and final factor in discarding the habit.

Her letter follows:

Dear Miss Stoddard: I wonder if there is a solution to my problem.

Five years ago I married a widower with a boy 4 years old. I now have a little girl 3 and expect another baby soon. I knew my husband drank some when I married him, but not to the extent that he has carried it since we have been married.

He was deeply in debt when we married, and that should have opened my eyes. But as they say, "Love is blind." For over two years I worked to help pay these bills. But in the meantime, due to his drinking, new bills popped up, some of which we still owe. Our little girl isn't even paid for yet.

But for his drinking, we would have money in the bank and would not be head over heels in debt.

But that's only the beginning. About three years ago the liquor began to have a queer effect on him, turning him into a crazy man if he got a little too much. He will fly into a mad rage over the least little thing, and many times I have been afraid for the children's lives and my own when he is in that condition. He has come home several times all cut and bleeding; the last time only about a week ago. He even admits that he is liable to kill us all some time, and still he won't stop.

You will wonder why I haven't left him. I have. Five times. The last time I even started to divorce him. It's a pity I didn't. But he pleaded and begged me to try again, and seemed to be so sincerely sure that he could brace up and do the right thing, that I weakened again and came back.

But it's the same thing all over again. He stayed sober two weeks and has been drunk on an average of twice a week since then. He spends his money on liquor and on other people, and is a good fellow, while his wife and children have gone hungry and without decent clothes.

Yet he swears that he loves me, dearly, and I have been fool enough to believe him. I guess the thing that has made me try so many times is that when he is sober he is really kind and loving, and also has many other good points. I live with the hope that some time he will change.

I couldn't begin to write here of the misery, shame, and humiliation I have suffered in these five years; losing most all of my friends and nearly all interest in life. My baby is the only thing that has kept me going. I have tried everything I can think of to get him to reform. We have talked it over many times and he realizes where it is leading him and admits that he has no reason to drink, other than being unable to say "no." Hundreds of times he has sworn off, only to come home a day or two later so drunk that he could hardly stand up.

It nearly drives me mad to think of having to leave again, but I shall surely go insane if things don't change soon. This is my last attempt at trying to find out if there is anything that I can do to cure him of this miserable habit.

BROKEN HEARTED WIFE.

SOCIAL OUTLOOK

Monday, July 15, has been set aside for G. A. R. Women's Relief Corps day at the San Diego fair, Mrs. C. F. Millen, press chairman of the Sedgwick corps, announced today.

Entertainment will be extended to the members at the San Diego Hospitality house. It was not known today if any Santa Ana members would attend the fair on that day, since a delegation from here is attending the department meeting at San Francisco in session now.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO HAVE CALLED MEETING

The Santa Ana Woman's club will have a called meeting Tuesday in the home of the president, Mrs. E. M. Waycott, 416 West Washington, to complete plans for a garden section.

Club bonds will also be discussed.

Many Parties Planned For Bride-To-Be

A series of parties in Berkeley, where she lives now, will honor Miss Edith Bailey, vivacious dark-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bailey of East Washington street, who this week at a tea in the family home announced she is to be married in October to Walter Drayce Giggins, son of the late Walter G. Gibbons and Mrs. Gibbons of Oakland.

First to compliment the bride-to-be was Miss Helen Wiessman, who entertained with a kitchen shower Thursday afternoon in the home of her sister, Mrs. W. J. Stauffer, 2201 North Ross street.

Miss Helena Bailey and Miss Marjorie Keebler won prizes in bridge. Robbie and Billie Stauffer presented the shower gifts in the social hour. Yellow and green appointments were used in the dessert course.

Present also were Mesdames Paul Bailey, F. W. Wiessman, W. J. Stauffer, Floyd Hubbard, William Fox and Jeannette Henderson, and Misses Edna May Clancy, Gertrude Bibson, Doris Keebler, Virginia Anderson, Mary Bell, Betty Bondley, Isabel Bondley, Elizabeth Rinker, Katherine Chapman, Mildred Spicer and Florence Brownridge.

BARN PARTY HELD BY CHIROPRACTIC AUXILIARY

"Hi, Cy, you gol-danged fool" was the cry on the air Thursday night at Buchheim's ranch in Huntington Beach, when California Unit No. 1 of the Layman's Chiropractic auxiliary held a barn party and Weiner roast.

Old-time games and contests were on the entertainment schedule. Motion pictures of "Mickey Mouse at the Circus," "Bathing Beach Bob," "Felix in Circus Days," and Laurel and Hardy in "Do Detectives Think?" were shown by Dr. James Workman through courtesy of the national film library of Los Angeles.

Urban Buchheim and Thurston Webster had weiners on their pitchforks to the handle when the group gathered for their roast.

Mrs. Gladys Buchheim, Miss Doris Webster, Mrs. Mable Read, Miss Florence Scherbert and Carol and John Reynolds and Dr. Stell Workman assisted at the feed.

Present were Mesdames and Mmes. U. L. Buchheim, Raymond H. Prothero, John L. Reynolds, Phil C. Holmer, Fred Schwendeman, and Dr. James Workman and Dr. Stell Workman.

Mmes. Mable Read, Eva Samuels, Doris Holliday.

The Misses Florence Scherbert, Doris Webster, Vivian Lipscombe, Jean Brush, Mildred Samuels, Betty Samuels, Marjorie Lipscombe, Genevieve Buchheim, Francis Buchheim and Eleanor Prothero.

Fred Brush, Thurston Webster, Leonard Schwendeman, Raymond Prothero, Earl and Teddy Prothero, and Frank Lipscombe.

MRS. STEPHENSON HOSTESS TO NEEDLEWORK CLUB

Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson entertained members of her Friday Afternoon Sewing club for a pleasant meeting yesterday in her home on North Broadway.

A tea hour concluded the afternoon for the group.

Present were Mesdames E. B.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women. If there is a question that interests or puzzles you, suggest it, and we will collect opinions on it for you!

What to your mind is the most valuable thing you have added to your life through your work as a clubwoman?

Mrs. E. M. STAUFFER—There are of course definite civic and intellectual benefits accruing from club work, but the friendships I have gained mean the most to me.

Mrs. Ray B. Stedman—I think that what has appealed to me most is that in my club we're working toward artistic effects in our gardens, and acquiring definite workable knowledge in addition to enjoying our association together.

Mrs. J. T. Wilson—The biggest thing to be learned from club life, I think, is to give up your ideas for those of the mass. It is the most difficult and the most valuable lesson one learns.

Mrs. George Briggs—I especially enjoy the fine lectures and book reviews we hear in our club programs. One couldn't help but gain a better understanding of conditions through them.

Bride-Elect Honored At Luncheon

When Mrs. Moran was to leave our valley, he came one day to the house and with my mother's permission gave me a big black box of fine oil paints. I have never forgotten what he said to me. "You have," he said, "the divine spark. Never give up your painting. If you should go away from here, and should have no paints, borrow chalk from your teacher at school. Sketch hills, Study the foliage of a tree. Let nature be your teacher."

Went to Kansas

Soon, then, Mrs. Moran went to Kansas to be reared by her parents' family, and in the busy years of school and college, art was practically shelved for her. But not mentally. She continued to study nature and plan for the day when she could have training in art.

After her marriage, and when she was 28, Mrs. Moran began the study of painting with Irving Mano, former faculty member of the Chicago Art institute.

Combiner Duties

In the years that have followed, Mrs. Richardson has combined the duties of mother, rearing her son and her brother's daughter; and of wife, spending time golfing with her husband, keeping an attractive home, singing in two lyric clubs, and painting scores of canvases.

Her paintings evidence her great interest in nature, particularly in cloud formations, in the effect of late afternoon light on landscapes, and of the blue ocean and blue green eucalyptus trees.

One, "The Opal Sea," a light-colored seascape done along the Laguna coastline, was accepted by the Museum of Fine Arts in Los Angeles. Many have been sold. She is doing a commission now, in scene in the Brea hills, for the Veterans hall.

To Paint Adobes

Paintings of all the old adobe ruins and the mission buildings in this district are planned by Mrs. Richardson, who is now working on a study of an old Yorba land grant homestead which used to be a Butterfield stagecoach stop and along whose porch she played as a child. An old barn which one can see on the Irving grazing land near the canyon road on the way to Laguna has inspired two of her best paintings, one done in the late afternoon and one in the daytime.

While she is emphatic in her belief that everyone has in himself the possibility of some form of artistic expression, Mrs. Richardson says she would not exchange her home life for one of an artist alone.

"A woman's life is incomplete without marriage," she says. "Mine has been happy because it is full and complete."

Santa Ana Is Artist, Housewife

Following a vision given her by a great American artist, Thomas Moran, years ago at her family home in Chino, Mrs. George S. Richardson of 2320 Oakmont, or Lillian Morrill Richardson as she is known professionally, has been faithful to her painting muse throughout the time she has attained success in the lifetask of wife and mother, and now she is being rewarded by multiple honors heaped upon her oil paintings.

Mrs. Richardson's life story is one of real inspiration and encouragement to the struggling young artist, from the time of her parents' death when she was a very young girl, up to the present, circumstances and duties have tried unsuccessfully to swerve her from her painting.

Was Given Paints

"The hills were very lovely near our home in Chino," recalls Mrs. Richardson. Her parents, Stephen and Mary Morrill, came from Kansas to the Chino valley as pioneers by stagecoach in 1886, and their love for the countryside transmuted itself to the little girl who followed the artist, Moran, on sketching trips nearby.

Radio Roundup

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

Jack Benny's broadcast will be his last until September. And to make the occasion a brilliant one, Fred Allen will foregather at the mike to swap stories with the Benny troupe. The program is almost certain to top the comedy heights of the season. The two funsters, and one and Portland Hoffa, are friends of long standing.

Allen has been drafted by Hollywood for movie work. All save Frank Parker and Schleperman will be present for the finale.

After spending months in Hollywood, seeking a film contract, Parker finally landed one with Universal which immediately rushed him back to New York where the picture is to be made. However, Harry Livingston will confidently step into Frank's shoes and sing "You've Got Me Down Throat."

The new program in the fall will open with a last hour and the same sponsor.

The only other definite information we have is that Harry will continue as Jack's comedienne and chief foil. That's some thing he couldn't help.

As the show is almost certain to originate in Hollywood, listeners are asking:

Will Don Beaton and Frank Parker be in the new lineup? Will J. V. Don Wilson announce? What will the new broadcasts be like? Will Harry Conn continue to write them?

Jack will only say that he has a surprise up his sleeve—brain new idea in comedy. But he refuses to talk about it at yet.

VOL. 1, NO. 63

Saturday, July 13, 1935

To Barbara Rowland:

Ride like everything, Barbara. All Orange county is betting on you to win the California Outdoor Girl contest at Salinas Wednesday.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Cattle Rustlers:

Going pretty far back in the pages of history to dig up a new racket in Orange county, aren't you? Well, you are lucky the boys don't do the job like they used to in these parts. They didn't need jails much in those days; they didn't always bother to dig graves—just left your kind hanging there to an oak or a sycamore tree.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Mayor Fred C. Rowland:

Fred, if you and Terry Stephenson don't get that city hall cornerstone laid pretty soon, it'll be time to build a new city hall to replace the one now under construction. First it was the President and now it is the governor, who is supposed to slap the mortar on. Why not get Huey Long and have a good show?

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Postmaster T. E. Stephenson:

Glad to learn of four new rural mail routes out of Santa Ana. We are so accustomed to good service at the Santa Ana postoffice that we forget sometimes what we didn't have in the old days. And of all the things that have been done to add to the convenience and relieve the drudgery of farm life, perhaps nothing has meant so much as the R. F. D. Long may it live.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Howard Wood:

It took a good deal of will power to keep that slogan of yours, "It's Always Cool in Santa Ana" on the front page of The Journal this week. It seemed we were drawing the long bow a bit. But just as we were weakening we happened to compare our temperatures with those of other spots in the state and in the Middle West, and we decided if things are judged by comparison, we aren't such liars as we might be.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Al Honer:

That was a signal honor, Al—to be nominated without opposition for the post commander of Santa Ana American Legion post. It's a big job and one that has been most creditably filled by Bert Casteix. The legion is entering upon one of its biggest jobs—providing a means of countering the inroads of communism in this county. Much of the responsibility will fall upon you. Congratulations and good luck.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Bill Hart, Orange Publisher:

Good news has come from your bedside, Bill. We are told you are recovering from your recent operation and will be about again with the rest of us before long. And we're all glad. Earl Morrow, Santa Ana telephone man who is another one confined to his home by illness, is also beating it back to good health. We know a lot of folks who will feel better when they meet both of you on the street again.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Governor Merriam:

This probably is one of the most trying seasons for a governor—the period during which he must decide which bills to sign and which to ignore. Like all legislatures the California legislature spent a great deal of time accomplishing very little. It is your job now to determine what is good and what is bad legislation. It requires careful study and above all, honesty of purpose. Perhaps it is asking too much to lay political considerations aside but the people, God bless them, would appreciate a break. Are you big enough, Governor?

COL. V. ORANGE.

To the San Diego Fair Management:

If, as it was reported this week, the orange juice served on the exposition grounds, is of an inferior quality, you asked too much when you asked Orange county to support your fair. Of all places in the world where tourists and fair visitors have a right to expect first class orange juice, it is at an exposition held in Southern California, the Orange Empire of the world. And if you have permitted the concessionaires to stop Orange and other counties from serving pure juice from their booths, you have committed another crime. I am going down to San Diego today and find out what's happening. You'll hear from me later.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Congressman Sam Collins:

Sam, wouldn't it surprise you if the Santa Ana river flood control project should still go through in spite of your assertion that the administration's WPA fund will not take care of it? Of course your statement was pleasant news to your constituents in San Bernardino and Riverside counties but some way it didn't make such a hit in your home county. Maybe you are right and maybe you aren't. But we would have been a lot happier here if you had come home and told us that in spite of obstacles you were doing your darndest to put the program through. Sometimes a politician relies too much on the home folks and loses them while he neglects the old circle and flirts with outsiders.

COL. V. ORANGE.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Purely personal piffle: Few believe, but I have a dog that cocks his head and whimpers when a radio orchestra plays "Trees." The Great obsession of book reviewers is their readers might not think them highbrow. You know, a best seller—but is it art? Sustained top in hilarious sketching—Peter Arno.

Stark terror in fiction: "Skin for Skin," by Wimfred Duke. For no reason I've become clock cœurs, annexing the craziest specimen. Cleverest book autograph in my collection—that of E. Phillips Oppenheim. Best selected of the nome de plume: Guy Fawkes in the New Yorker.

I like to see Pat O'Brien get tough in the films and rarely miss the calm news announcements of Harlan Eugene Reed on the radio. Funniest theatre program announcement: The Casino de Paris' "Les 16 Smart Boys" at 17, I wrote three girls at the same time for their promise of marriage.

Cities forever calling me back: Amsterdam, Cologne, New Orleans, Mexico City and, of course, Paris! Paris! The biggest surprise I ever got in a close-up of a celebrity was the hefty size of Vincent Astor. I can't take my eyes off those scars beneath the ears of lifted faces.

An unbeatable young literary triumvirate: Joel Sayre, Vincent Sheehan and John O'Hara. Every picture I ever had taken on shipboard has a vague hint of nausea. Total movie eclipses: Harry Langdon. After ten years I cannot unscramble Zoe Akins and Zona Gale. The only wine I've been able to distinguish by taste is Chablis. The side-splitting book critique was by Dorothy Parker as "Constant Reader," reviewing Milne's tickled-pink Whimsey and ending: "At which Tontant Wreder Frowed up."

Jaunty scribbling moniker: Tess Slesinger. She's the reputed Dorothy Parker of The Village. Of Louis Bromfield she observed: "He writes novels at the drop of a top hat." Harry Leon Wilson signs all his mail H. L. Wilson. Outside the smell of a baby's head, no aroma equals grass falling under a lawn mower. Best part of a baked potato—the jacket.

No one wears a wide brimmed hat so captivably as Mrs. Will H. Hays. The only eatable that does not agree with me is watermelon. But I give it a whirl once a year and sit up all night puffed and groaning. I've never seen the widely press-agented Jock and Lang Whitney or heard Lily Pons sing.

Most remembered breakfast coffee: At the Kaiserine Augusta Victoria at Weimar. I own the percolator now. I look more the fool than usual in a straw hat.

Another lowly uprising: The daisy is now the fashionable flower. Old timiest looking New York suburb: Flushing. And it's charming. Heap o' livin' suburb: Jackson Heights. Mrs. Margaret Emerson is the best dressed ring sider at important prize fights.

Favorite taste: chocolate. Whenever I see a "Must Vacate" sale sign I believe it. People with undershot jaws fascinate me. Most expert diners among the Elsie Eagle.

The Italians, however, have looked into this, and fear it would be suspected. Now, according to confidential reports cabled by American agents to the administration, it is proposed to float a camouflaged loan through Swiss bankers. Bonds would be issued for the "colonization and development of North Africa."

ANTIQUE'S CAR

EMPEROR HAILE SELASSIE OF Ethiopia also would like to float a loan in the United States. Having defaulted on no war debts, this would be possible.

The deal ended.

THE SHIPWRECKED MAN, A BOUNDARY DISPUTE

Prof. and Mrs. B. F. Beswick and daughter, Katherine, left today for Catalina to spend the summer. They own a cottage on the island.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"Do you see that fella over there? Him and me had a mad crush on each other last year."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Saturday, July 13. The Italian government has been canvassing the prospects of a war loan in the United States. Under the Johnson act an outright bond issue by Italy would be taboo, since the Italian government has defaulted on its debts for the last war.

On the other hand, a private Italian firm could float a bond issue here, regardless of the Johnson act, since the act applies only to governments.

The Italians, however, have looked into this, and fear it would be suspected. Now, according to confidential reports cabled by American agents to the administration, it is proposed to float a camouflaged loan through Swiss bankers.

Bonds would be issued for the "colonization and development of North Africa."

Moyle's action has helped to save federal revenues. In a recent shipment from abroad to New Orleans, heavy duties were imposed on supposedly "antique" chinaware, entered as pre-1830 variety.

One of the plates happened to bear a design of the steamship Great Eastern, which did not exist until 1858.

Some supposedly ancient furniture received like treatment. Nails withdrawn for inspection were machine cut. Machine-cut nails originated in 1855. Previous to that only hand-forged nails were used.

So, if you import an antique, be sure it has a bona-fide existence prior to 1830. Otherwise the government will do its duty.
